PERTINENT INFORMATION

Subject: Muammar Al-Azmi and the Husseinis.
P.O. "A"

"The only other leader of importance still out of the country is Haj Amin HUSSEINI and sources doubt whether the Germans would release him to the British now if the British were willing to take him. He might be allowed to return after the war to some neutral country, but his role in Palestine is likely to be permanent." "The most likely return of the exiled leaders would be that of Haj Amin Bey. Turki died a short time ago. Authority from the relatives of Jamal Husseini says he has died down for the moment, in a period of the reported officia in the past may be future. The friends and relatives of Jamal work in the various British officials of Palestine saying that he had broken with the HITZI and that he was opposed to the HITZI's policies. Many of the British were convinced of the truth of these claims on account Jamal had in spite of his name he had done. The one who held out to Sir Harold MacMichael, he said he would not be responsible for the peace of the country if Jamal were allowed to return. Under those circumstances no one in authority would insist upon his return. Source has reason to believe that Ambassador Clayton, Mr. Giles, and many others in wide Arab understanding wanted him back. Henri Gaid is reported to have worked upon Nahhas Pasha to insist upon his returning; at any rate, Nahhas introduced himself in the matter. It would now appear that Jamal will not be allowed to return until after the war and until some decision with regard to Palestine is taken."
